The hopes of the New York Elks of takfirst place in the New York circuit the Inter Eiks Billiard League were of the Inter Eliks Billiard League were thwarted last week when they met the Brooklynites, holders of the coveted position at the head of the procession. The New Yorkers had been looking forward to this meeting, for they felt quite certain that they could out the leaders, but all they could do was to head a year, on the they could do was to break even on the box with everybody. The Brooklyn-New York battle was an even affair. Charles M. Nahmmacher lrew first blood for Brooklyn by defeatdrew first blood for Brooklyn by defeating the New York representative. Eddle Robinson, in the opening balk line game by a score of 150 to 85. Nahmmacher averaged 3 27-41, with high runs of 23, 16 and 16, while Robinson averaged 2 3-41, with strings of 18, 11 and 7. In the second balk line game William Gashel of New York made up for his teammate's defeat by vanquishing George T. Moon, Jr., of Brooklyn by a score of 150 to 125. Gershel averaged 4 26-31, with high runs of 42, 19 and 17, against an average of 4 5-39 and clusters of 17, and 16 for Moon. This was one of the best games that has been played in the tournament, for it was nip and tuck from start to finish and both men were in fine form. Moon looked like the winner in the twenty-ninth inning, when he led at 123 to 107, but Gershel came back with his run of 42, which put him within one point of the match, and he made it in his next turn at the table.

this statement I beg to differ. How many times have American pugs beaten their English rivals through that one asset? Scores! For instance, we may take the Billy Papke-Jim Sullivan battle at the Palladium a few years ago. The American was hopelessly outclussed as far as boxing was concerned, yet his toughness eventually pulled him through. Another instance is the Al Palzer-Billy Wells battle in New York. If ever a man was outboxed, Palzer was. In the second round Charley White will be busy no matter what is the outcome of his fight with Welsh Tuesday night.
